

List of Clients and Recommendations

Mary Kay is grateful for the many opportunities to share her message of the benefits of humor, laughter and play. She has presented to wide variety of audiences which have included international conferences, hospitals, schools, senior living communities and university classes. She has been invited to speak in a variety of settings including a commencement keynote and did a retreat for a bank employees. Her mission includes sharing the power of humor with non-profit organizations to make a difference for those who are making a difference. Non-profit organizations can send a request to Mary Kay for one of her monthly pro-bono presentations.

Her volunteer work with AATH (The Association for Applied and Therapeutic Humor) included initiating the AATH Humor Academy and Certified Humor Professional program. This has been offered for graduate credit as well as for CEU and CME accreditation. As founder and director, she has overseen the education of over 200 humor scholars who have participated in this unique humor studies program through AATH.
